Let's revisit Eric Hunt's demolition of David Cole-Stein's nonsense -
Response to David Cole by Eric Hunt
David Cole has disparaged me specifically and my documentary
The Treblinka Archaeology Hoax.

Here are his comments <https://www.facebook.com/adam.parfrey/posts/10154399731275224>

And here is my response -

HolocaustHoaxMuseum.com

A Revisionist sent me a link to David Cole's written response defending his alleged belief that 900,000 Jews were "gassed", buried, dug back up, cremated, and reburied and / or scattered at Treblinka 2. I was disparaged along with my documentary and I'd like to respond.

I thank him for taking the time and keeping an open mind while watching the documentary and responding to it. I wasn't directly disparaged too roughly by Cole, so I'd like to keep it courteous between us, if he will allow it.

To support Cole's view on Treblinka and "Action Reinhard Death Camps", he relies on two general documents (the Korherr Report and the Höfle Telegram), two sinister but vague entries in the Goebbels Diary and statements by Himmler. However, Cole denies the large amount of physical, photographic, and now, testimonial evidence which supports the idea that no mass gassing could have occurred at Treblinka 2 and it primarily served as a transit camp where Jewish wealth was seized before Jews were divided into appropriate groups and sent on to other locations.

Most of Cole's argument is based on the alleged lack of physical evidence at "Treblinka."

"Did the inmates at Treblinka eat? For a year-and-a-half, did they ever ingest food? Did the commandant ever eat? Well, show me the Treblinka stove. Did the inmates ever go to the bathroom? Did the commandant? Well, show me a Treblinka toilet. Show me or draw me a Treblinka toilet. You can't? Then none existed." - David Cole

Actually David, I can show two Treblinka 1 latrines...

HolocaustHoaxMuseum.com

And a kitchen...

Back to the latrines soon – here's David.

"My sarcasm aside, the fact is, we all know that Treblinka existed. Studying the barren land where Treblinka once stood isn't like looking for Noah's Ark. We know that what we're studying did exist. And we know that the camp was razed. The case for Treblinka (and Sobibor, etc.) must be made through documents."

- David Cole

David thinks the case for Treblinka and Sobibor, etc., must be made through implying homicidal intent via documents and "code words." But he's wrong, as similar documents can, have been, and are falsely interpreted.

Not only that, an incredible, undeniable amount of physical evidence still exists a few feet below the current ground level of Treblinka 2. The story is that the Nazis took sand from the nearby gravel pit and dumped it all over Treblinka 2. After all, Caroline Sturdy Colls's archaeological dig showed that remains of the alleged "gas chambers" exist below the ground at Treblinka 2. But of course, many "deniers" claim these terra-cotta tiled floored structures inmates entered after getting a haircut were likely real shower rooms, reinforced to protect against air raids.

So one can find structural remains similar to those latrines or the kitchen at Treblinka 1 beneath the ground at Treblinka 2. So David, one could very well show you a Treblinka 2 toilet or a Treblinka 2 stove, just as you sarcastically request. After all, Caroline Sturdy Colls proved "the Nazis couldn't destroy all remains", right? Colls' archaeological dig shows that Treblinka 2 could very well appear quite similar to the current ruins of Treblinka 1 when approximately 3-4 feet of ground are removed.

So David is repeating an exterminationist meme which is not true. That is, that Treblinka 2 was entirely razed and it's a land barren of evidence.

Of course the exterminationists, like Cole, claim the alleged "document trails" are the "mountain of evidence." However there is an actual little mountain of evidence currently at Treblinka 2 waiting for proper forensic investigation.

So David's analogy is correct, it's not like looking for Noah's Ark.

However, it IS like being told the exact location where Noah's Ark is known to be buried under four feet of ground, yet having the chief rabbi of Poland prevent anyone from ever digging there.

Chief Rabbi of Poland refuses archaeological exhumation of alleged mass graves at Treblinka 2

Contrary to Cole repeating the meme of the Nazis destroying all evidence, a tremendous amount of physical evidence still exists at Treblinka 2, below the current ground level. Or LACK of evidence for massive ground disturbances signifying locations where massive mass graves for 900,000 Jews once existed.

Cole himself watched as the archaeologist dug up an alleged gas chamber. Well, there's one place to start looking for more physical evidence, David.

However, the archaeologists covered up the alleged "gas chamber" location.

One can see from approximately 0:58 – 1:30 the location of the alleged "gas chambers" Caroline Sturdy Colls' team covered up.

Recent likely dig locations close to or where Colls's team found nothing but fossilized shark teeth appear to have been covered with lime.

Of course we are told the Nazis used "quicklime" to cover up evidence at Treblinka, yet why is the "truthseeking" archaeological team doing the same thing?

This is a literal "cover up." Covering up the location of "gas chambers" with dirt, and covering nearby evidence sites with lime? Isn't that something "the Nazis" would do?

So an incredible amount of physical evidence still exists, yet is covered up by Zionist archaeologists and an investigation-impeding Jewish Chief Rabbi of Poland. Why not expose the alleged "gas chamber" site just like the ruins from Treblinka 1 for all to see?

What Treblinka Was

What "Treblinka was" can be proven from the physical evidence the Germans left. Ground level Soviet photographs taken in August 1944 show the Germans left buildings, fences, roads, and even the train tracks running to the Camp. This is confirmed by aerial photographs taken in September 1944.

Photograph of Treblinka bakery, stables, and fence taken by Soviets upon discovering Treblinka

The Soviets played a key part in destroying Treblinka 2 evidence. They, not the Germans, destroyed train tracks, the remains of the bakery, horse stables, and other structures.

In The Jewish Gas Chamber Hoax documentary we heard from the Treblinka transitees how they were reloaded back on trains with hundreds of other Jews and not only not gassed, but given bread, almost certainly from this bakery. One can see how the Soviet Union, keen to hide evidence of life sustaining structures and frame the Germans would destroy it.

More importantly, the Germans did leave evidence of the number of dead at Treblinka Camp; they left remains of a few bodies and a small number of pits with partially cremated human remains in them. Although, they left the remains of less than 5,000 people. They did not leave any mass graves with tens of thousands of bodies in them, let alone the approximately one million alleged today, or the nearly 4 million alleged by Vasily Grossman.

Treblinka is a place where forensic investigations have uncovered the remains of less than 5,000 people. That is the basic fact regarding what "Treblinka was." The rest of Treblinka "history" is merely a string of attempts at obfuscating this basic fact. The Caroline Colls fraudulent archaeological investigation and documentaries being prime examples.

"The Nazis had over a year to eradicate the traces of Treblinka. And the Soviets and Poles have done God-knows-what to that area since 1945. So the physical landscape as it exists now is worthless."

- David Cole

Cole not need ask "God" what happened to all the physical evidence the Germans left...it was destroyed by the Soviets and Poles. However the Soviet investigation of 1944 and the Lukaszkiwicz Report from 1945 confirm the mass of physical evidence the Germans left – garbage pits, various small amounts of documents and records, and the few actual cremation pits and graves.

So contrary to what Cole wants to promote, the Treblinka 2 physical landscape is not only not worthless, but priceless. All the evidence in the world to acquit the Germans of mass gassing claims still lies under a few feet of ground at Treblinka 2.

Necessary locations for transit camps

Treblinka, Belzec and Sobibor were located near the former Soviet-German demarcation line. Treblinka and Sobibor were located on the Western bank of the Bug River, a natural dividing line.

Treblinka, Belzec and Sobibor were strategically located not in secret locations, but near or on the locations where travelers HAD to disembark and get on different trains due to Russian and Western rail gauges being different.

One can see Belzec and Malkinia mentioned below.

Today at similar locations, machinery picks up entire train cars and replaces the undercarriages with the appropriate gauge undercarriage.

These were in fact, necessary locations for transit camps, not random secret locations in hidden forests.

The fact that thousands upon thousands were transited through Treblinka after the alleged uprising destroyed the ability to "gas" Jews helps proves this. Why stop there at all if its sole purpose was to kill Jews, not transit them?

Oops

The "best" point Cole thinks he made against The Treblinka Archaeology Hoax was in fact already corrected almost three months ago by Germar Rudolf, which resulted in a second, shorter cut released May 13th, less than 2 days following its initial May 11th release, along with other small corrections.

Cole devotes a whopping 7 out of 12 paragraphs about me and The Treblinka Archaeology Hoax to debunking this already corrected mistake! In the process calling me a liar.

By doing this, solely seizing on an easily debunk-able mistake, he ignores ALL of the hard-hitting, hoaxbusting points in the feature length video.

In the first cut I said "This is a report from September 1942, of the Joint Distribution Committee providing medical aid to 600,000 Polish-Jewish refugees in Asiatic Russia." I also showed a newspaper article. The day of release, Germar Rudolf corrected this and pointed out that they were evacuated well before Treblinka was alleged to have been gassing Jews by the trainload.

RUSSIA AND REICH IMPROVE RAIL LINK

Nine Stations Prepared for Reloading Freight Because of Difference in Gauges

RUMANIAN LINE UNTOUCHED

Soviet Facilitates Shipments of Oil to Germany—Only
Thin Traffic Expected

BERLIN, Feb. 1 (AP)—Nine pairs of railway stations on the New German-Russian frontier will hum soon with activity through the re-loading of Russian raw materials and German industrial goods from wide to standard gauge freight cars and vice versa, if Nazi expectations are fulfilled.

These stations, all in what until last September was Poland, are listed with those on the German side first: Szczepki, Augustow, Prostken-Grajewo, Malkinia-Zarem-ba, Platerow-Siemiatycze, Terespol-Brest-Litovsk, Chelm-Jagodzín, Bel-zec-Rawa Ruska, Zurawica-Prze-mysl and Nowogrod-Salus.

Under the plan agreed upon, Ger-man goods will be reloaded in sta-tions on the Soviet side after in-spection by Russian customs offi-cials. Soviet goods similarly will be inspected in German frontier terminals.

Tracks Made Wide Gauge

Soviet railwaymen have been busy moving one rail three and one-half inches outward on each of nine roadbeds from the old Russian frontier to the new demarcation line, thereby converting the former Polish tracks into wide gauge roads suitable for Russian cars. The first direct line opened up was that end-ing on the Russian side at Brest-Litovsk and on the German side at Terespol. During the first ten days of January it was reported that more trains passed over this line than during the entire month of December. It meant converting the stretch from Brest-Litovsk to Stolpce, approximately 160 miles, into wide gauge.

Only in one section of the newly acquired territory did the Russians fail to widen the railway gauge. That was through the section of former Poland that connects Ger-many via Przemyśl with Cernauti, Rumania. Here by mutual agree-ment the line was left as it was so that Germany could obtain oil from Rumania without reloading. Oil from Galicia, now in Russian hands, also can be made available to Ger-many without reloading.

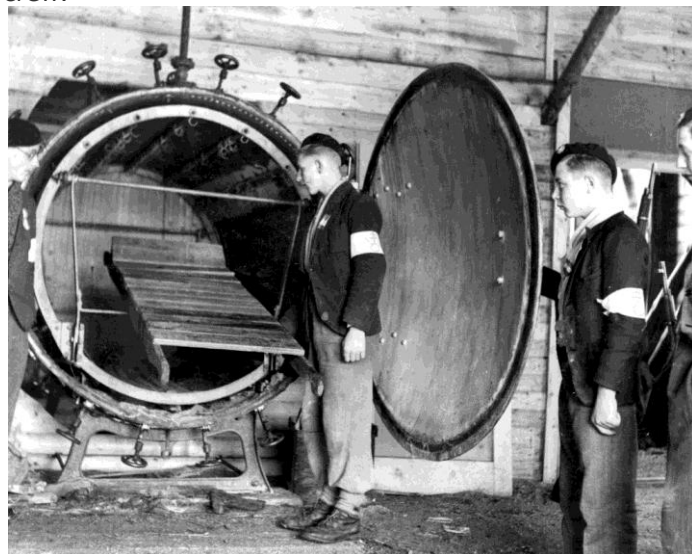

Eight Stations Open

Of the nine projected transfer points along the German-Russian frontier, all but one already have been opened to bring minerals, oil and grain to Germany. The ninth—at Chelm-Jagodzín—must wait until a new bridge is built over the Bug River.

The Russians are reported at present to have changed only one track on each line in former Poland to wide gauge. This means that traffic for some time to come will be rather thin. Nevertheless daily trains are said to arrive in the re-loading stations.

Every device known to German propaganda is invoked to impress the German people with the fact that the Allied blockade is rendered ineffective through the German-Russian understanding.

I also mistakenly called the Mathausen swimming pool the Auschwitz swimming pool. Mistakes happen, especially due to my extremely limited time, budget and crew.

While that was an honest mistake, David Cole currently promotes the belief that at the same camp, Natzweiler, which had on display this phony “gas chamber” – a mad German doctor was gassing Jews to collect their skulls!

Mass Graves

Cole spends some time “debunking” an already corrected mistake in version 1.0 of The Treblinka Archaeology Hoax while ignoring all of the most potent claims.

The most potent point is this – If the largest mark in this above LIDAR / Ground Penetrating Radar scan of Treblinka 2 is the “old gas chamber” structure...where are all the mass graves for the alleged 900,000 Jews buried, dug back up, and reburied?

Samuel Willenberg, claimed “only living survivor” of Treblinka 2

It's obvious these Polish Jews were evacuated by the Soviet Union. The mistake was a result of putting an old misidentified placeholder into an early draft, rushing to get the project out and not running it by other people. I had already released a video less than 2 months before releasing the Treblinka video, and felt it was worth it to rush the project out considering that Caroline Colls was running around bragging about finding mass graves and gas chambers. The correction was made and published two days later and was linked on all of my websites. I kept the older version up simply because the comment page was more active.

I have now removed the old version considering it is causing confusion and this small mistake is distracting from the larger work.

Surely there should be enormous markings in the Ground penetrating radar to signify the giant mass graves as alleged in Willenberg's hearsay based model below.

And in fact there would by necessity have to be huge remnants of mass graves at a site claimed to have murdered 10 times the capacity of the 90,000 seat Los Angeles Coliseum.

The Los Angeles Coliseum with 90,000 capacity Ground penetrating radar can detect such enormous ground disturbances as Cole and Treblinka believers claim must exist, yet Caroline Sturdy Colls' GPR / LIDAR radar shows no such thing.

Caroline Colls' Ground Penetrating Radar scan actually proves "deniers" right. In the "extermination camp" quadrant of the camp (in the lower right below) there simply are no markings signifying massive mass graves which could possibly have held 900,000 bodies. Other than some smaller "pock marks", in fact the ground looks remarkably mostly UNdisturbed.

This hard evidence proves Cole has misinterpreted documents and his "code words" mean nothing when we now have undeniable proof that there are no massive ground disturbances signifying massive mass graves for the 900,000 alleged gassed, buried, dug back up, and reburied at Treblinka 2.

To clarify, there are certainly mass graves at Treblinka, mostly for those who died on the way to Treblinka. But nowhere near 900,000 could possibly have been buried in this remarkably mostly undisturbed ground.

While Cole says this physical evidence (or lack of evidence pointing to massive mass graves) is worthless, this is in fact the most important evidence, not misinterpreted documents, with added code words or speculation. The evidence is still there!

The New York accented "Chief Rabbi of Poland" refuses the complete excavation and exhumation of Treblinka that would would definitively destroy "The Holocaust" myth forever or destroy "Holocaust Denial."

The rabbi didn't count on non-invasive LIDAR and GPR technology being able to see through the ground, exposing the Treblinka hoax.

Many Points Ignored by Cole

Cole felt confident enough to seize upon one mistake in the 1.0 version of the video yet ignored an hour and twenty minutes of presenting both some of the collective knowledge of the Revisionist movement regarding Treblinka as well as some new points, witnesses, and evidence.

Here are a few of the points he declined to address:

1. "Its sole purpose was to kill Jews" 5:53

A point echoed by Arad, Black, and Caroline Sturdy Colls. Already proven wrong by the Shoah Foundation testimony, among other sources. Cole admits to "thousands" transited through Treblinka, Sobibor, etc. Access to Yad Vashem, Red Cross Bad Arolsen archives, or the German reparations fund information would continue to prove tens upon tens of thousands were transited through these camps.

What was so important about these Shoah Foundation Treblinka transitees, including a young girl and her mother, to see the inside of an extermination camp whose "sole purpose was to kill Jews"? Arad and Black know it's embarrassing to point out the evidence that thousands of Jews were transited through these camps, including completely un-skilled female children. That's why although there are reports of thousands transited through these camps, they don't mention it.

2. Eyewitnesses and records suggest that up to 900,000 people were murdered by the Nazis in 13 gas chambers at Treblinka 2 7:56

How reliable are these "eyewitnesses?" The same Treblinka eyewitnesses that sentenced innocent John Demanjuk to death as being "Ivan the Terrible of Treblinka?" Or Kurt Gerstein who claimed diesel was used at Treblinka? Or Eichmann, who claimed a captured Soviet submarine engine was used to gas almost a million Jews at Treblinka, when the Germans never captured a Soviet submarine?

The Demanjuk trial exposed Jewish Treblinka gassing, mass murder "witnesses" such as Eliyahu Rosenberg as vindictive Jewish supremacist liars. These "Treblinka survivors" not only didn't care if Demanjuk was really "Ivan the Terrible", but deliberately lied in order to extract revenge. "He's a Ukrainian goyim, it doesn't matter if Rosenberg reported "Ivan" killed in the uprising decades earlier, kill him..."

Deliberate hoaxers such as Auschwitz-Birkenau gas chamber escapee "Eyewitness" Irene Zisblatt show Jewish survivors who were kept alive by the Germans with the desire to extract revenge through creating entire fantasies about their experiences.

Feel free to compare any Treblinka mass gassing eyewitness to my Shoah Foundation Treblinka transit witnesses, who tell a much more believable story. Please David, we need diagrams of these thirteen , count em, thirteen Treblinka 2 "gas chambers disguised as shower rooms."

3. Willenberg 8:15 Willenberg repeats the "death factory" story, often repeated about Majdanek and Auschwitz, which Cole denies were death factories. Willenberg never saw the inside of the alleged "death factory" area and his model is based on hearsay.

4. Excavators 15:50

Are these photographs of excavators "digging mass graves" or operating at the gravel quarry?

5. Treblinka 1 / Swimming Pool 16:15

Contrary to Cole's claims of the video providing nothing new, there existed no properly labelled image or video of the Treblinka 1 swimming pool on the internet or elsewhere that I'm aware of before this video.

This is in direct contrast to the Caroline Colls cited H.E.A.R.T. which even today mislabels a Treblinka 1 food storage cellar as the swimming pool.

Even many Revisionists who visited the camps often never saw it, it's obscured by trees on all sides. Those that may have didn't understand its significance, as it is deliberately not labelled by museum administration. Why would museum staff label such an embarrassment to the extermination narrative? People might experience cognitive dissonance and question the larger story.

David Cole interviewed Ernst Zündel at the Auschwitz swimming pool. In fact I used footage Cole took of the Auschwitz swimming pool. David thought recreational swimming pools in alleged extermination centers are quite significant and run contrary to the orthodox story and I agree!

According to the LIDAR / GPS scans, there are no ground disturbances consistent with 875,000 bodies buried at Treblinka 2.

6. Majdanek 18:46

Caroline Colls believes the Majdanek Bath and Disinfection 1 facility was used to murder Jews, when David Cole knows full well it was used to keep them alive and free of disease.

Why doesn't Cole realize they got the gas chambers / shower room story at Majdanek wrong, and similarly got Treblinka wrong too?

7. The bodies of 900,000 people believed murdered at Treblinka have never been found 35:15

Revisionists have an answer for this – they weren't murdered there, and some are still alive to this day.

8. Vasily Grossman / Soviet propaganda 35:23 – 38:09

"What we do know about Treblinka 2 comes from a handful of eyewitnesses"

How accurate are those eyewitnesses and are they as biased as the Auschwitz sonderkommando witnesses David Cole claims are pathological liars, lying about dragging dead Jews from gas chambers to crematory ovens? Are they deliberately lying?

Vasily Grossman was a Jewish fiction writer, who created propaganda for the Soviet Union. A narrator reads his atrocity poetry from "The Hell of Treblinka". This is disseminated as unquestionable truth today.

Were 3.9 million Jews also killed at Treblinka as according to Grossman's submission to Nuremberg?

David Cole knows full well Grossman's impossibly large, camp-spanning cremation pits, 250 x 300 meters long don't exist, and they never existed.

Treblinka ~~electrocution~~, ~~steam~~, ~~diesel~~, petrol chambers and these massive pits have their origin in wartime atrocity fiction. They have no place in reality, German documents or eyewitnesses, just the imaginative minds of psychological warfare hoaxers such as Grossman.

The job of the exterminationists and David Cole is to make the original impossible story believable for modern audiences and pretend it has its basis in science, German code words and truthful eyewitnesses.

9. Jews themselves dump recently cremated ashes at Treblinka 38:40

10. "If you actually find a mass grave you have to stop. It's simple. 41:50

The Chief Rabbi of Poland is impeding a true and complete investigation of Treblinka.

The Polish government can overrule him and should.

11. It took just 20 minutes to kill 5,000 people 43:03

Just another impossibility which can be further proven by a detailed diagram of the alleged 13 gas chambers.

12. The archaeologists dig, find nothing but fossilized shark teeth 43 m 24 s

The archaeologists chose to dig in areas which showed ground disturbances.

They found nothing but fossilized shark teeth. Shouldn't they also be able to find 25 million 200,000 Jewish teeth buried at Treblinka?

13. 900,000 Cremated remains are still there!

This is the single largest mass burial site in the entire world and the evidence is still there. The cremated remains of 900,000 should be able to be exhumed and catalogued.

14. Steam Chambers, ever-changing murder weapons 47:19

Ever-changing murder weapons have their origin in wartime atrocity fiction. Electrified floors? Steam chambers with trap doors? Submarine engines?

Diesel engines? Due to engineer Friedrich Berg's tireless work, proving the wild inefficiency of diesel for mass murder, many exterminationists are quietly and reluctantly abandoning claims of diesel gassing at Treblinka.

Deborah Listpadt's webmaster didn't get the memo, however.

15. Abraham Zrzepicki describes a shower room reinforced for air raids 56m

Samuel Crowell points out that throughout the German camp system buildings were reinforced for air raids at the same time the alleged Treblinka gas chambers were built.

Zrzepicki describes a single shower room reinforced for air raids, located near a well.

This was a likely shower room just like the one Cole was in at Majdanek that is fraudulently alleged to have been used to murder inmates.

And Zrzepicki describes ONE room not 13 chambers...

16. Within 8-10 minutes of arriving at Treblinka they'd be dead, they'd be killed in the gas chambers for the women, 15 minutes because they had to have further humiliation, they had to have their heads shaved before they took that walk into the gas chambers themselves. 58:45

1- Impossible "gassing" times.

2 - Was utilizing inmate hair for industrial purposes worth stopping the factory of death? Was the hair that important? Or was inmate hair cut to keep deadly typhus carrying lice from finding a place to bury in, infect, and kill Jewish inmates?

17. Gas Chambers disguised as shower rooms 59:40

What was the purpose of disguising a gas chamber as a shower room when mad sadists such as Ivan the Terrible were allegedly cutting women's breasts off with swords forcing them into the "gas chamber disguised as a shower room" we're told was designed to soothe and trick the Jews into complacency?

We know the Dachau "Gas chamber disguised as a shower room" is a deliberate hoax. We know at Majdanek there is no "gas chamber disguised as a shower room", but separate gas chambers for delousing inmate clothing and a shower room.

What is the purpose of terra cotta tiles in a gas chamber? Designing a gas chamber with terra cotta tile flooring. It's just stupid. A real shower room? Par for the course.

Caroline Colls covered up the area which could reveal foundation similar to those found at Treblinka 1. There may be a complete foundation, including divisions signifying different rooms.

18. The Nazis couldn't hide all traces of their crimes, but we can! 1:06:50

Zionist Archaeologists cover up the site of the alleged biggest weapon of mass destruction in human history.

19. Animal Burial site shows up on Colls GPR radar. 1:09:19

Again in contrast to David Coles' claim that the video adds nothing new, I was able to show a burial site between Treblinka 1 and 2 which has exposed animal remains and excavator markings. It even shows up on Colls' own radar.

A complete archaeological investigation should find scenes like this, but thousands of times bigger at the alleged Treblinka 2 site, with tons of cremated human remains and massive ground disturbances.

The disturbances at this animal burial site are bigger than anything showing up on the radar at Treblinka 2. There are more animal bones here than alleged human bones Colls found in the entirety of Treblinka 2.

20. Jewish Billionaire Media Domination and Control

A sore point David Cole, a Jewish Los Angeles based Holocaust promoting filmmaker himself, wouldn't want to point out is that Jewish Billionaires, whether Murray Rothstein or Steven Spielberg are behind the Holocaust promotion campaign and the primary reason it's believed.

Zionist Jewish media domination, combined with their ability to manipulate politicians via their propaganda such as Treblinka: Hitler's Killing Machine and The Last Days (shown in the US Congress) is the main reason the "gas chambers disguised as shower rooms" myth persists today. Not science. Not archaeological investigations which uncovered the remains of less than 5,000 people.

21. Not code words in German documents.

This, combined with their campaign to destroy the lives of those who deny their myths, of course.

However the days of Jewish media domination via newspapers and old media are dying and educated people aren't buying 70 year old atrocity propaganda anymore.

Independent, extremely low budget videos like The Treblinka Archaeology Hoax, although not as slick as the Zionist Billionaire funded propaganda pieces, will go a long way to fight the hoax.

21. Secret Death Camps?

There was nothing secret about Treblinka 2's location. It's located a short walk from the Treblinka 1 labor camp where inmates were periodically released after serving their sentences. The railway to the Treblinka gravel pit constantly passed by Treblinka 2.

Belzec was located on a main passenger rail line where civilians could simply look out the train window into it as they passed by.

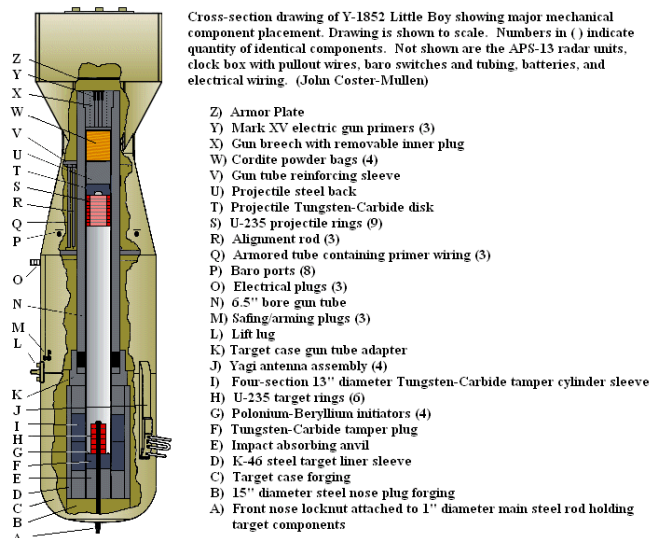

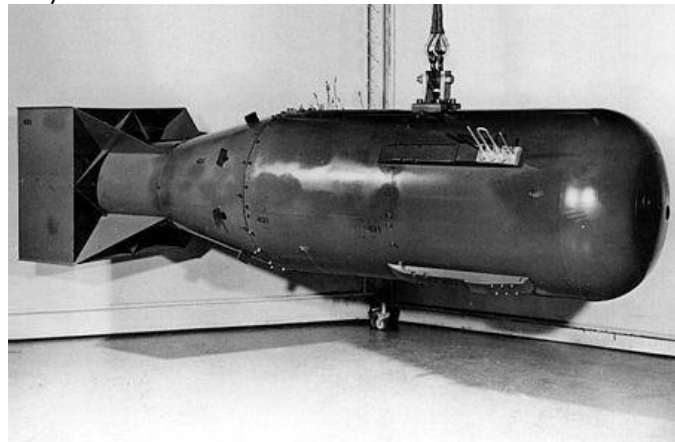

22. Equal Gas Distribution

David, what was the mechanism used to equally distribute the exhaust from the Soviet ~~steam / diesel~~ / petrol / whatever engine into the 10 / 13 / whatever amount of gas chambers?

Treblinka Holocaust believers / promoters such as David Cole like to keep things as vague as possible. Details don't matter, the Jews just all disappeared, right?

I think this is why Faurisson's "Show me or draw me a Nazi Gas chamber" meme is important. Mocked by Cole, but he still doesn't seem able to do it.

Please, David, show us diagrams of the 13, count em, thirteen alleged Treblinka gas chambers and how they worked.

"Atom Bombs: The Top Secret Inside Story of Little Boy and Fat Man," 2003, p 112.
John Coster-Mullen drawing used with permission

The atomic bomb Little Boy killed 66,000 Japanese in Hiroshima. We know how it worked and can reproduce diagrams on its function.

So please produce similar diagrams showing how the Treblinka gas chambers actually functioned, which you claim were 14 times more deadly than this atomic bomb and were responsible for the murder of 900,000 Jews.

Because these Treblinka shower-rooms-disguised-as-gas-chambers are the most successful weapons of mass destruction in human history, surely David Cole can produce a diagram so we can learn how such a horrible creation actually worked.

Cole seems to assume that simply hooking up engines and exhaust pipes to these "gas chambers" is a surefire way to murder 900,000 Jews, but he "overlooks" more than a few things.

One of the most important problems with the story is that we're told the Jews were loaded in different "chambers" and gas was pumped in which resulted in their death.

My friend and colleague, Columbia educated Engineer Friedrich Paul Berg will gladly examine the Treblinka gas chamber diagrams surely to be produced by Cole and examine the mechanism used to equally distribute the exhaust from the captured Soviet petrol engine to the multiple chambers. Because obviously an equal or similar amount of deadly exhaust would have to be pumped into each room, there must be some mechanism to do this.

Many "Holocaust" promoters have seemed to finally reluctantly agree that diesel gassings were impossibly inefficient thanks to Berg's tireless promotion of this fact. I'm sure Mr. Berg be able to verify the ability of such equipment to equally distribute the "gas" into the 10, 13, or whatever different chambers.

But that's only one of the many problems with the story that isn't even mentioned in The Treblinka Archaeology Hoax.

23. According to Cole, Auschwitz and Majdanek had no homicidal gas chambers but Treblinka had REAL gas chambers!

Cole apparently seems to say that at Auschwitz and Majdanek the physical evidence acquits the Germans of mass gassing claims. Yet he claims that although the Auschwitz and Majdanek narratives were / are completely wrong, this can't possibly also be the case with locations such as Treblinka. As we saw in the Treblinka : Inside Hitler's Secret Death Camp documentary, Caroline Sturdy Colls filmed from inside the shower room of Majdanek Bath and Disinfection 1, applying homicidal intent to a facility designed to shower inmates and delouse their clothing in order to keep them alive. David Cole was inside this complex and thoroughly pointed out most of the holes in the Majdanek story.

"Holocaust Deniers" as Cole wants to call us claims that that the Majdanek Bath and Disinfection 1 complex was just that, and was in fact life saving. We believe this evidence – that Majdanek's "gas chamber" facility was a life saving bath and disinfection complex – a mirror opposite of the propaganda claims – adds to the proof that Treblinka "gas chambers" are similarly misidentified.

If Cole believes a life saving Bath and Disinfection complex is misidentified as a homicidal gas chamber, why is it so outrageous for him to think we question and even deny the Treblinka "gas chambers"? Since Cole knows the original Soviet Majdanek death toll of 1.5 million was justifiably reduced to around 60,000 today, why does he think it's so outrageous for a similar revision of original propaganda death tolls to happen at Treblinka?

Cole wants to dismiss the large amount of Jews transited through Treblinka, Sobibor
David wants to dismiss the Shoah Foundation Treblinka / Sobibor transitee witnesses as "nothing new."

Maybe David didn't watch "The Jewish Gas Chamber Hoax" which brings up some other problems with Treblinka. Primarily eyewitness description of corpse color, diesel gassings.

The video also points out that to two of the top "Holocaust" authorities (promoters) in the world – Yitzak Arad and Peter Black, these miracle "survivors" certainly are "something new."

Why was Zelda Gordon, an unskilled female child, so important that she was plucked from inside a Treblinka "Gas chamber" to be transited through Treblinka, this "pure extermination camp" to other camps to kvetch to all the yentas in Poland about this top secret "extermination center"? Of course it's absurd, which is why Arad and Black push the "pure extermination camp" myth.

There are reported cases of hundreds, and even thousands at a time being transited through Treblinka and Sobibor. Just because there is a lack of information from more of these Jews doesn't mean they were gassed at these sites. Just because we can't track every person allegedly sent there doesn't mean they were gassed and buried at these sites.

24. Cole's own experience reuniting separated "Holocaust survivor" brothers, each assuming the other was exterminated, after appearing on the Montel show should have taught him that by now.

Although no doubt tens of thousands died after being transited Eastward, there must be thousands of Treblinka and Sobibor transitees still alive even today.

This can be verified through archives which are unfortunately closed to Revisionists. If Cole can get me complete access to the German reparations payment fund, the Red Cross Bad Arolsen archives, or Yad Vashem I can continue to show more Jews transited through Treblinka and Sobibor.

And of course the lack of mass graves proves the official story can't possibly be true. The orthodox line is to minimize the Jews we know were transited through the camp, so why would they bother looking for more?

The Holocaust Industry claims there are a ridiculously small amount of "survivors." You can find hundreds of pages and even entire documentaries devoted to spreading this lie. "Only two survivors remain from Nazi camp Treblinka." is a popular mainstream Holocaust promotion lie. This is blown away by the Shoah foundation testimonies of Jews describing being transited with up to 500 at a time through Treblinka. And there are thousands of similar stories to be found if one has access to and cares to look in the right places.

Of course these Shoah Foundation testimonies are only of American Jews. Several "Treblinka" survivors live in Beverly Hills. Cole can put on his yarmulke and go to any Beverly Hills synagogue, ask around and find some of those related to these Treblinka Survivors / Beverly Hills residents such as Fred Kort, Zelda Gordon and more! But for those sent East, one would have to look to the Soviet Union's records. Unfortunately, Russia recently criminalized "Holocaust Denial".

Jews transited at Treblinka?

Dear Dr. Arad,

I have a question that I need answered very specifically, because I need a direct quote from an authority such as yourself on this -

Q : Approximately how many Jews ever disembarked a train at Treblinka, then after a period of hours or days, boarded another train and were sent further on, to other camps?

Thank you very much for your time.

Sincerely,

Arad Feb 11

to me

Dear David Green,
Jews who arrived by train to Treblinka disembarked, were sent in one direction - to the gas chambers. They never boarded other trains and sent to other camps.

Dear Dr. Green,
Thank you for your email of February 10 and your interest in information at the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum.

The two surviving brothers in Poland described in your e-mail were the children of a Jewish family living in Poland during the Holocaust. Their names were Yitzhak and David Green. Their father, David Green, was a Jewish doctor who was killed in the Holocaust. Their mother, Sarah Green, was a Jewish housewife who was also killed in the Holocaust. Their two sons, Yitzhak and David, were the only survivors of their family.

Yitzhak and David were born in Poland in 1925 and 1927, respectively. They were both Jewish doctors. Yitzhak was a pediatrician and David was a general practitioner. They were both active in the Jewish community in Poland. Yitzhak was a member of the Jewish National Council and David was a member of the Jewish Labor Committee. They were both active in the Jewish community in Poland until the Holocaust.

The Shoah Foundation Jews describe being transited through Treblinka to other camps. These camps are also mentioned by Pohl in his report to Himmler. Were they also part of Operation Reinhardt?

On the 10/22/1943 SS Obergruppenführer Pohl announced that he had ordered taking over of the following Working Camps by Amtsgruppe D: (1) Old Airport Lublin (2) SS Working Camp Trawniki (3) SS Working Camp Poniatowa (4) Forced Labor Camp and SS Workshops in Radom (5) Forced Labor Camp and SS Workshops in Budzyn (6) Main Camp Cracow Placow (7) German Equipment Works, Lublin (8) Armament stores in Lemberg.

25. Pohl, Aktion Reinhardt, Globocnik Report, Himmler Reply

Operation Reinhard (t)

The "Operation Reinhard Death Camps" story is a false narrative created primarily by Jewish political science major Raul Hilberg and Jewish Zionist war criminal Yitzak Arad.

Operation Reinhardt with a T at the end was an SS program to utilize Jewish labor, confiscate and redistribute Jewish wealth in order to fund the SS and was named after Fritz Reinhardt, state secretary in the German finance ministry of the Third Reich. There is zero proof it was named after Reinhard Heydrich, in order to kill 2 million in revenge for his assassination. There are no overt references whatsoever to mass extermination connected with Operation Reinhardt in German documents. There are several references to economic plunder of property and expulsion in connection with Operation Reinhardt.

Samuel Crowell sought to educate David Irving on Operation Reinhardt. Cole would benefit from reading the following multiple times.

Aktion Reinhardt, Globocnik Report, Himmler Reply

The entire Action Reinhardt is divided into four spheres:
A. The expulsion itself. B. The employment of labour. C. The exploitation of property. D. Seizure of hidden goods and landed property.

-Odilo Globocnik, alleged head of "Operation Reinhardt"

It's Globocnik telling in plain language what Operation Reinhardt was. What does Cole want to do with this?

Cole needs to add more "code words" "expulsion" meaning 2 million gassed, buried, dug back up, and reburied, right?

Not Just Four "Extermination Centers"

1) In a piece on Inconvenient History, Jürgen Graf attacked David Irving for his belief that mass murders occurred at the Reinhardt camps. Graf's position is 100% dependant (sic) on the idea that if the Nazis did have four secret murder camps, the Nazi higher-ups would have been blabbing about them left-and-right to every underling and bureaucratic cog. - David Cole

We're told by the exterminationists that the four "Operation Reinhard death camps" were Treblinka, Belzec, Sobibor, and Chelmno.

The "discovery" of the Höfle telegram added another camp - L, alleged to be Lublin-Majdanek. We know this wasn't a pure extermination camp and in fact David Cole denies anyone was gassed at Majdanek whatsoever. So there you have an "Operation Reinhardt" camp mentioned alongside "T,B,S" which we know tens of thousands were subsequently deported from.

Alright, so now there are 5 Operation Reinhardt camps...

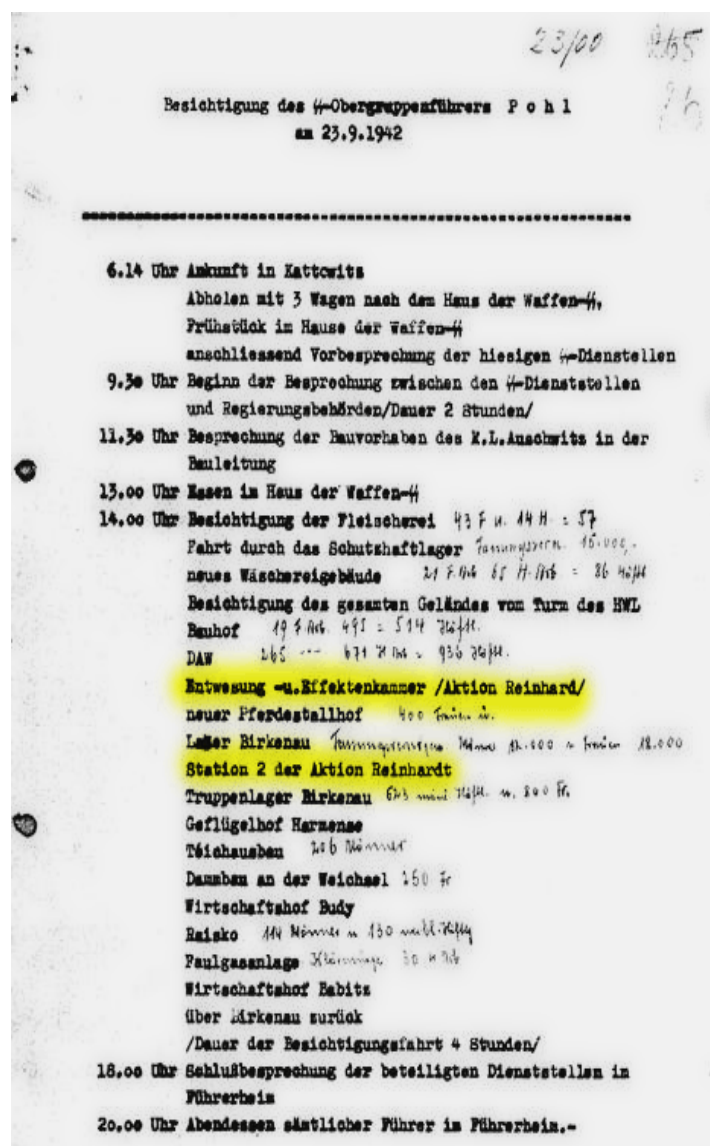

However below we can see Birkenau is specifically mentioned by Pohl as "Station 2 of Action Reinhardt"

On Pohl's visit to Birkenau on September 23, 1942 he refers to visiting "Station 2 der Aktion Reinhardt".

So that makes "6 Operation Reinhardt" camps now...

NOT the four claimed by Cole and exterminationists. And there are many more. Treblinka wasn't in Lublin district, Birkenau too. Chelmno also.

Operation Reinhardt must have been a camp network wide system for the plunder of Jewish wealth, evacuation, and utilization of their labor, not four "extermination centers" as parroted by Cole.

26. The Höfle Telegram

David Cole points to two documents for proof approximately 2 million Jews were gassed, buried, dug back up and reburied at Treblinka, Belzec, Sobibor, and Chelmno.

He claims that even in top secret documents, "code words" were used to describe extermination rather than evacuation.

Both the Höfle Telegram and the Korherr report have "mistakes" that exterminationists "correct" in order to fit their conspiracy theory. According to exterminationists, the Höfle telegram has a typo, as the numbers don't add up properly without adding a number to the "T" figure.

The Höfle Telegram was discovered in British archives in 2000. Researchers were confused and surprised when L, alleged to be Lublin Majdanek, was mentioned. Previously, the big four "pure extermination camps" Belzec, Sobibor, Chelmno, and Treblinka, were the only camps previously known as part of Operation Reinhard, labelled by fugitive Israeli war criminal Yitzak Arad as the "Operation Reinhard Death Camps."

Cole and exterminationists claim this report of arrivals to places labelled as L,B,S, and T proves that more than a million Jews were gassed at Belzec, Sobibor, and Treblinka by the beginning of 1943. But it's just a list of arrivals.

According to Cole, no Jews were gassed at Majdanek, but at the other 3, almost all were!

But there is no need for speculation or code words or misinterpretations of documents "discovered" in archives 14 years ago when the physical evidence proves the murder of almost 2 million Jews in 4 camps to have never happened.

If the amount claimed in the Höfle telegram is authentic, and this amount did arrive at Treblinka, Belzec, Sobibor, and Majdanek, evidence shows almost all of these amounts also departed these camps, too.

Just like at L for Lublin-Majdanek, David!

Similarly, Hoess in his formerly classified Nuremberg interrogation claims approximately 942,000 Jews arrived at Auschwitz total. Cole knows hundreds of thousands were transited through Auschwitz-Birkenau, which operated as an evacuation camp. (Now also proven to be part of Operation Reinhardt) Would he point to Auschwitz arrival figures as proof almost everyone sent there was killed too? Because that's what's he's claiming about Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor via the Höfle telegram.

27. The Korherr Report

The Korherr report is a report commissioned by Himmler on Jewish evacuation and emigration written by statistician Dr Richard Korherr. The most relevant section is translated below –

V. THE EVACUATION OF THE JEWS

All evacuations on the territory of the Reich and including the eastern territories and further in the German area of power and influence in Europe from October 1939 or later until 31.12.1942 resulted in the following numbers:

1. Evacuation of Jews from Baden and the Palatinate to France 6 504 Jews

2. Evacuation of Jews from the Reich territory incl. the Protectorate and Bialystok district to the East...170 642 "

3. Evacuation of Jews from the Reich area and the Protectorate to Theresienstadt..... 87 193

4. Transportation of Jews from the eastern provinces to the Russian East: 1 449 692 " The following numbers were sifted through the camps in the General government 1 274 166 Jews through the camps in the Warthegau..... 145 301 Jews

5. Evacuation from other countries, namely:

France (insofar as occupied before 10.11.1942)..... 41 911 Jews

Netherlands..... 38 571 "

Belgium..... 16 886 "

Norway 532 "

Slovakia..... 56 691 Jews

Croatia 4 927 "

Evacuations total (incl. Theresienstadt and incl. special treatment)..... 1 873 549 Jews w./o

Theresienstadt..... 1 786 356 "

6. In addition, according to data from the Reichssicherheitshauptamtthere is the evacuation of... 633 300 Jews in the Russian territories incl. the former Baltic countries since the beginning of the Eastern Campaign.

The above numbers do not include the inmates of ghettos and concentration camps.

Does Cole deny Jews were sent East through the General Government or Warthegau? Where were the Jews we know where sent East to places such as Minsk, Pinsk, Baltic countries etc., transited through if not through these districts, David?

The term used by Korherr, translated as "dragged through" or "sifted through" was used even after the war.

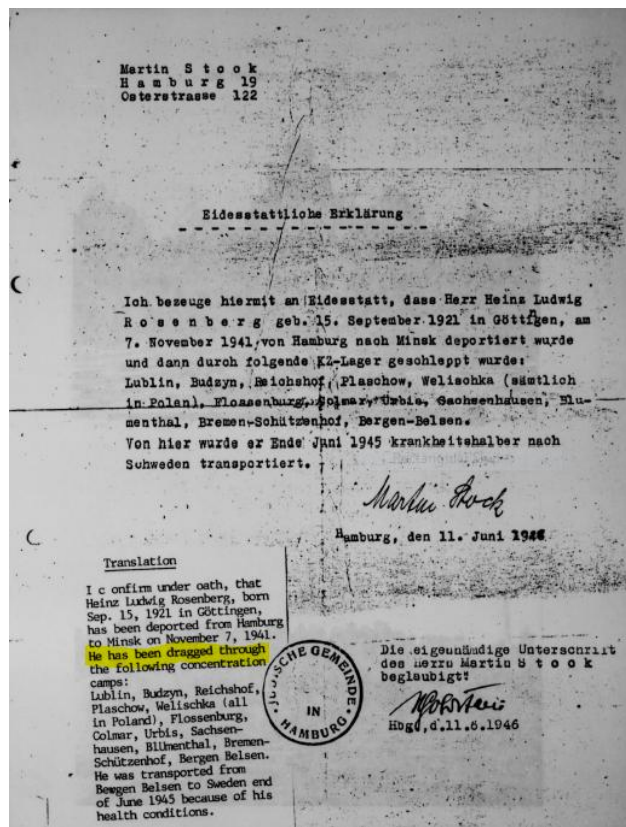

The below document is certifying in 1946 that Jew Heinz Rosenberg was sent from Hamburg to Minsk, then back, according to him, through Treblinka (but might be Trawniki) He had to have gone through the General Government or Warthegau districts in order to get from Hamburg to Minsk.

Similar wording "dragged through" is used. Heinz Rosenberg "survived" being transited East and back again and was not "gassed."

Exterminationists want you to believe this "dragged through" term in this secret report to Himmler secretly means "exterminated". This despite the Korherr report overtly reporting deaths in concentration camps and

Up to the beginning of 1943 exterminationists claim the Korherr report proves 1,274,166 were gassed at Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor (in the General Government district). In addition they allege this document proves 145,301 Jews were gassed at Chelmno, in the Warthegau district.

From the original German –

4. Transportierung von Juden aus den Ostprovinzen nach dem russischen Osten: 1 449 692 "
Es wurden durchgeschleust durch die Lager im General-gouvernement..... 1 274 166 Juden durch die Lager im Warthegau..... 145 301 Juden

The following is a deliberate mis-translation of Korherr from hoaxer organization H.E.A.R.T., often cited by Caroline Sturdy Colls.

Transportation of the Jews from the Eastern Provinces to the Russian East Number 1449692 1274166
4 passed through the camps in the General Government Through the camp at Warthegau 145301

However in the original German, the plural "die" is used rather than singular "das". This means Korherr is referencing more than one camp in the Warthegau district. Many camps. We are told that the section "durch die Lager im Warthegau" means Chelmno, however that can only be arrived at through a deliberate mistranslation.

So the exterminationists need to deliberately mistranslate this section in order to fit the "Four extermination centers" of Chelmno, Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor narrative.

So not only do exterminations want to point to this section of Korherr and claim it uses code words to describe extermination, they also have to deliberately mistranslate it to fit their false mass-gassing-in-four-extermination-centers narrative.

Here's Cole's "Holocaust denial destroying" point -

Korherr makes it clear that the Jews "processed through the camps in the General Government" were NOT, following the processing, "inmates of ghettos and concentration camps." Transit camp theory, RIP. - David Cole

This is just nonsensical as this would apply to every single group mention in section V, not just number 4. The preceding number 3 even describes Jews sent to Theresienstadt, a ghetto / camp.

3. Evacuation of Jews from the Reich area and the Protectorate to Theresienstadt..... 87 193

Korherr is simply reporting the amount evacuated, in the following sections he describes those currently in a partial list of ghettos and camps west of modern Lviv. Cole is by extension also claiming that Korherr himself knew these Jews processed through the camps in the General Government and Warthegau were exterminated and not sent elsewhere.

In the following sections VI and VII, Korherr writes nothing specific about the camps or ghettos East of current Lviv or even Bialystok and explains multiple times the difficulty and in fact impossibility of counting those in the occupied Eastern Territories.

*The newly acquired Eastern Territories (except for Danzig) are not included in the statistics. These figures cannot be calculated.

In addition, how it was impossible to calculate figures of Soviet Russian Jews in this area -

Moreover, it was not possible to count all of the deaths of the Soviet Russian Jews in the occupied Eastern Territories while those in the remaining European part of Russia and on the front have not been included at all.

And another about the difficulties of compiling statistics in the Eastern territories

We have faced almost insurmountable difficulties in the compilation of accurate statistics regarding the Jewish population and its movements in the Eastern Territories since the beginning of the Second World War, which set uncontrollable masses of Jews in movement.

And another

The figure for emigration and excess mortality (the turmoil of war!) in the Eastern Territories and the General Government cannot be checked.

Korherr's information is vague and incomplete concerning the Eastern territories. He writes nothing to do with where these Jews went "following processing" because according to him, it wasn't possible to! He writes nothing in sections VI or VII about the large Minsk, Bialystok, Vilna ghettos. We know there were tens of thousands of Jews at these camps. Just because he doesn't write about them, doesn't mean the Jews didn't exist, or disappeared into gas chambers disguised as shower rooms like Cole wants to claim.

In section VI, Korherr writes about "the Jews in the Ghettos". However, this is clearly incomplete, as no ghettos further East than Lviv are mentioned at all. Bialystok, Baltic states, too, no mentions of the known ghettos in the area the Jews transited East were likely to wind up.

Does this mean the Minsk ghetto didn't exist or have thousands of Jews transited to it because Korherr didn't specifically write about it in section VI? According to Cole this does. Because section VI and VII, according to Cole, was supposed to mention where all the Jews transited through the General Government and Warthegau went, and doesn't mention much information at all about the Eastern territories, Cole wants to jump to the conclusion that they were all exterminated in gas chambers.

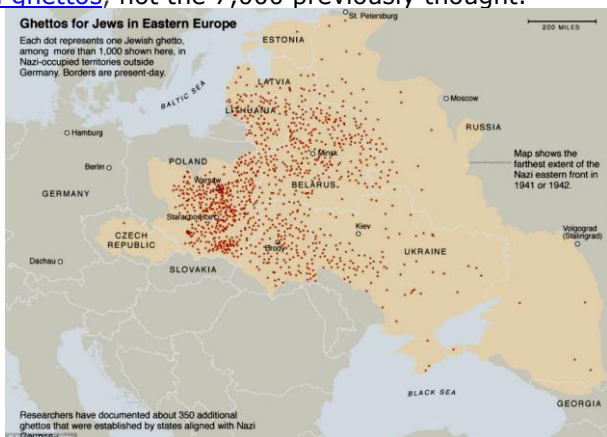

So Cole, this doesn't mean the Jews transited through the General Gouvernement and Warthegau were subsequently NOT "inmates of ghettos and concentration camps", but gassed, they just weren't all currently inmates of the partial list of ghettos and concentration camps mentioned in section VI and VII of Korherr which he was transitioning to at the end of section V .

Korherr gives no report of any camps or ghettos East of Lviv in section VI and VII. So the Korherr report is simply not a comprehensive report by his own admission.

So David, this means the statistician's report, which essentially stops with detailed figures of ghettos and camps East of modern Lviv, even though we know hundreds or even thousands of ghettos and concentration camps were located Northeast, East, and Southeast of the Bug River, is worthless to prove mass extermination at Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor.

Where did the Jews go after being transited through the General Government and Warthegua districts? Likely to one of the recently admitted whopping 42,500 camps and ghettos, not the 7,000 previously thought.

Because Korherr didn't have or write any detailed information about the Jewish population of specific ghettos and concentration camps East of modern Lviv, Cole and the exterminationists claim this is proof the Jews were gassed at Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor. Really!

In addition This quote from Korherr shows the Nazis went out of their way to transport elderly Jews to Theresienstadt (not gas them) at the same time we're told these "evacuated Jews" (code words!) were gassed. Between January 1 1943 and March 3 1943 113,015 Jews were evacuated from the Reich including Bohemia and Moravia, the new Eastern Territories and the district of Bialystok to the East and 8,025 Jews were moved to the Ghetto for the Aged in Theresienstadt.

28. Cole and David Irving

David Irving said at Treblinka that Jews at Treblinka weren't gassed, they were machine gunned into large pits.

Irving says there can be no doubt at all, but he has zero evidence to support this. Is he being sarcastic?

Cole is claiming that Irving is a "real Revisionist" and those who deny Treblinka had gas chambers or pits for 900,000 machine gunned Jews are horrible "deniers." Cole is smarter than this, so what is his game? Many Revisionists know that Irving is playing word games to avoid being thrown in prison again, but what's Cole's excuse? Cole himself doesn't believe 900,000 Jews were machine gunned into pits at Treblinka, so what is his angle? I would say that someone who claims 900,000 Jews were machine gunned into pits at Treblinka, although there are 900,000 missing bodies, bullets and bullet casings was a "Holocaust historian" spreading untruths and impossibilities, not a "real Revisionist."

I believe Irving is muddling his claims in order to stay out of prison and to have a better public perception of him. After all, a "Holocaust Denier" is the most persecuted person on the planet, who could be thrown into a "Western" prison simply for expressing one's conclusions. Their livelihood will be destroyed, they will lose friends and support of their family. Both Davids know this and have experienced it.

By separating himself from "deniers" Cole attempts to elevate himself in the eyes of society. But like Irving, he just confuses people by mixing historical truth with Holocaust fantasy.

29. David Cole's conversion from a "Revisionist" to a Treblinka / "Reinhard" believer / promoter is akin to Richard Dawkins becoming a Mormon. It's just not entirely believable. One can't really go back after seeing the other side, especially after enduring the scorn, hate, and misery directed at us.

If Cole's claiming he won't apologize for his past work because all areas of study should be open to question and investigation, the invective he writes towards "deniers" is a bit counter-intuitive. How someone who was and is as maligned as he has been can now say and write such similarly despicable things about Faurisson, Leuchter, Smith, and "deniers" is impossible for me to wrap my head around.

Perhaps in order to mitigate damage in his own personal and professional life, he is attempting to separate himself from the despicable "deniers" with his nuanced gas chamber shuffle.

How someone who believes the Auschwitz-Birkenau and Majdanek gas chambers are propaganda fiction yet unquestionably believes the same line about Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor is something remarkable, and is not believable to me, at all.

I just don't believe David Cole. I don't believe he 100% believes the Treblinka story and thinks a full scale archaeological investigation and exhumation of Treblinka would result in discovering the remains of nearly 900,000 Jews. It's impossible for someone to have been persecuted as much as he was – for knowing an inconvenient truth, not to know that it is entirely possible that those who are so wrong about Auschwitz might also be wrong about Treblinka.

"So what's a knowledgeable but disgraced Holocaust revisionist to do? Play both sides. And make some decent scratch. I created two pseudonyms – one to sell books and videos to Holocaust studies departments around the world, and one to sell books and videos to revisionists."

- David Cole, Republican Party Animal

Chapters 7-8 as reported by Friedrich Töben

Cole bragged in his own book that he was "playing both sides." And I feel he is continuing that to this day, by promoting the "Operation Reinhard death camp" narrative while denying the Auschwitz-Birkenau and Majdanek gas chambers. It's half a holocaust. Halfocaust. Promote half (Auschwitz and Majdanek gas chamber denial) to the Revisionists and hope the believers don't mind, and sell the other half (bashing Revisionists and affirming the "Operation Reinhard Death Camp Narrative") to the believers.

What I really am surprised at is the viciousness he goes after Faurisson, Leuchter, and "deniers".

If he actually believes in Treblinka, Belzec, Sobibor ~~electruction~~ / ~~steam~~ / ~~diesel~~ / ~~petrol~~ gassings fine, but I'd think he wouldn't be so quick to attack Treblinka "deniers" and would support further investigation.

I would consider a statement such as the following reasonable -

"I, David Cole, extensively researched the Auschwitz-Birkenau and Majdanek concentration camps and found that there were no homicidal gas chambers as alleged at these sites. Although, I do believe approximately 2 million Jews were gassed at Treblinka, Sobibor, Chelmno, and Belzec.

However, due to my experience with the Auschwitz-Birkenau and Majdanek "gas chambers" being based not in reality but in propaganda, testimony from Germans extracted via torture, and fraudulent eyewitnesses, I justifiably have doubts about the official Treblinka narrative and support a complete archaeological excavation and cataloged exhumation of human remains at the Treblinka 2 site. After all, the Auschwitz gas chamber story isn't true, and we know Majdanek witnesses confused showers with gas chambers...

So it is possible the rooms at Treblinka that inmates hair was cut before entering were actually life saving shower rooms, just like the Bath and Disinfection 1 complex at Majdanek where a similar process is alleged. However, today I believe 900,000 Jews were gassed at Treblinka, but as I said, support a complete excavation due to my experiences with fraudulent Auschwitz and Majdanek claims."

Of course there are dozens more reasons why the "Operation Reinhard Death Camp" narrative is impossible. The documentary "One Third of the Holocaust" by Denierbud has never been addressed by Cole and covers many, many more of these impossibilities. IF Cole is claiming to be a scholar, he can address the points in that video too, rather than knocking my entire presentation based on one mistake already revised months ago or all of Revisionism's Treblinka claims based on his twisting of the Korherr report.

Overall, I don't believe David Cole actually believes the absurd Natzweiler gassing claims or the Treblinka gassing claims.

Should we believe Cole before the death threats drove him underground or Irving before spending a year and a half in an Austrian prison cell? Or both of them afterwards? I choose to believe the David Cole who openly brags that he's playing both sides.

David Cole believes every Auschwitz "Sonderkommando" is a complete pathological liar... Yet believes Samuel Willenberg, Eliyahu Rosenberg, and the Treblinka cast of liars?

I just don't buy it.

Cole believes no one was gassed at Auschwitz or Majdanek, but they were at Treblinka, Belzec, and Sobibor.

He is the only person in the entire world to proclaim such a belief.

The "homicidal mass gas chamber" claims, ALL of them, have no basis in reality. Not at Auschwitz-Birkenau, not at Majdanek, and there were no "Thirteen gas chambers disguised as shower rooms" at Treblinka either.

The homicidal gas chamber myth was created and persists due to camp rumors, the high death toll of Jews, an honest confusion of the separate shower and clothing delousing process, eyewitness lies, torture of captured Germans, deliberate Allied de-Nazification psychological warfare, and people actually believing the homicidal gas chamber claims to be true.

Like electrified floors, steam chambers, Belgian babies being bayoneted, soap, lampshades, Kuwaiti incubators, the "gas chambers disguised as shower rooms" wartime atrocity hoax needs to be thrown in the trash can of history.

Cole deserves the insults being thrown at him for disrespecting and backstabbing Revisionism and Revisionist heroes such as Leuchter, Faurisson, and Smith, but I won't join in it myself.

The biggest insult David Cole can ever experience is having to defend his World Jewish Congress predecessors' ridiculous propaganda in public with a straight face as the Internet age exposes the absurd and impossible "Holocaust" propaganda coup.

LONDON, Nov. 25—Nearly a third of Poland's Jewish population—1,000,000 persons—has perished in three years of German occupation, Dr. Ignacy Szwarcbart, Jewish member of the Polish National Council in London, told this correspondent today, amplifying Polish Government information on the new Nazi onslaught on the Jews.

Holland, Belgium and France. The Lodz ghetto, containing many Jews from the West, has been completely closed for several weeks and no news has been allowed to penetrate through its walls.

A government report tells how a mass electrocuting was carried out at Belzec. Deportees from Warsaw were packed into a barracks and ordered to strip naked, ostensibly to have a bath—then they were pushed into a room with a metal floor. The door was locked and current was passed. Death came instantaneously. A large digging machine was installed nearby to dig mass graves.

The British section of the World Jewish Congress said that according to authoritative information received here, all Jews in Norway above the age of 15 years, totaling 2,900, had been arrested. It was believed that the prominent Norwegian Rabbi Samuel was among those seized and sent to perform forced labor in Northern Norway and Poland. Funds of Jewish charitable institutions are said to have been confiscated.

Wise Explains His Stand

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, acting as chairman of a special conference of Jewish organizations, announced here yesterday that the organizations were convinced of the authenticity of a rumored Hitler order for the immediate extermination of all Jews in German-controlled Europe.

He listed the organizations for which he spoke as the American Jewish Committee, the American Jewish Congress, American Jewish Labor Committee, Agudath Harabonim, B'nai B'rith, Synagogue Council of America and the World Jewish Congress.

These organizations, Rabbi Wise said, had authorized him to invite the aid of any Christian organization ready to speak out on behalf of the Jewish victims. They had also set Sunday, Dec. 13, as a day of mourning, to be observed by fasting and prayer by Jews "in all the lands where Jews are still free."

Rabbi Wise explained that his group believed in the authenticity of the extermination order on the strength of affidavits obtained by the State Department from Jewish sources of information in free countries.

He gave the following as the latest reliable figures on Jewish populations in German-controlled countries:

	Sept. 1939.	Nov.
Germany	200,000	40,000
Austria	75,000	15,000
Bohemia-Moravia ..	80,000	15,000
Poland	3,300,000	2,000,000
Belgium	85,000	5,000
Netherlands	120,000	60,000
Yugoslavia	75,000
France	300,000	235,000
Bulgaria	50,000	18,500
Slovakia	90,000	20,000
Latvia	100,000	4,000
Lithuania	150,000	6,000

*All drafted for labor. †In forced labor.

Rabbi Wise said the State Department documents included affidavits from "reliable persons who knew" of such atrocities as turning Jewish bodies into fats and soap and lubricants, and of the latest Nazi method of killing Jews by having doctors inject air bubbles into their veins. He said the earlier gassing with prussic acid had been found too expensive.

"Professor Shocked, Shocked To Find Out Prominent Nazi Was An Anti-Semite"

January 24, 2015 by Pascal-Emmanuel Gobry 8 Comments

I apologize for the snarky headline, but sometimes it can't be helped. The chair of Germany's Martin Heidegger Society resigned in genuine horror after some of Heidegger's private papers were released and showed that, surprise, surprise, he was an anti-semite.

The immense awkwardness that is Heidegger's Nazi affiliation is always quite a thing to behold. The simple fact of the matter is that, in terms of influence and also perhaps quality, Heidegger is a giant of 20th century philosophy, and one whose influence was felt primarily on the "Left." The fact that a man who exercised such a tremendous influence on postmodern and progressive philosophy was also a Hitler supporter obviously raises eyebrows.

Many people say that one ought to be able to separate a man's ideas from his actions and evaluate them independently of his actions. This has a prima facie fairness to it. And it's an old debate: when we read Rousseau on education, how should we feel about the fact that he abandoned his own children? Fascinating. But, I think, for most rational people, even those who want to give its fair due to the ideas-author distinction, there does eventually come a point at which discussing Heidegger without using (so to speak) the N word depends on a suspension of disbelief and critical faculty, one that eventually strains past the breaking point.

First, people discovered that Heidegger had been a member of the Nazi Party. This was explained away by saying that Nazi Party membership was required of university professors; this pro forma action might have betrayed personal cowardice, we were told, but did not mean Heidegger was a believing Nazi. Then it came out that Heidegger had made public statements of support of Nazism that went well beyond the bare minimum then-required to keep your job. The squirming and explaining intensified, but still, we were assured, Heidegger could not have been a sincere Nazi. Then it came out that Heidegger had defended Hitler in private letters. And now this.

Awkward.

The reason why this is all so painfully awkward is that it all fits in a well-preexisting narrative, which is this: Heidegger was the godfather of the school of historicism, sometimes known as relativism, which holds that all truth is socially constructed and historically determined, and that therefore we have no access to capital-T Truth. Obviously, this idea has had a tremendous impact, both on 20th century academic philosophy, and in more debased form in the broader culture. And obviously, a critique of this idea as long as it has existed has been that if relativism is true, then morality is false, and if morality is false then all manner of evil is permitted. Indeed, all manner of evil might be inevitable, since in the absence of a recognition of transcendent truth, the only remaining way to resolve disputes is violence, and the only criterion of decision power. Which makes it really really tempting to point to Heidegger's very life as exhibit A for the prosecution of relativism. And which makes things, again, quite awkward for all those who would use relativism as the thin end of the wedge of a happy-peppy progressivism. Is it really so silly to posit a link between relativism and totalitarianism? Take it away, Benito:

If relativism signifies contempt for fixed categories and those who claim to be the bearers of objective immortal truth, then there is nothing more relativistic than Fascist attitudes and activity. From the fact that all ideologies are of equal value, we Fascists conclude that we have the right to create our own ideology and to enforce it with all the energy of which we are capable.

As I said, awkward.

One perhaps interesting point of comparison with Martin Heidegger is another German philosopher of the same time, Dietrich von Hildebrand. Hildebrand was a philosophical antagonist of Heidegger. Hildebrand had the admitted bad taste of being a Roman Catholic, so he believed in objective truth and defended it philosophically. He was one of the key architects of the philosophical movement of personalism, which proclaimed the intrinsic and transcendent dignity of all human persons.

How did his life turn out? He was a virulent critic of Hitler, so much so that Hitler called him his "number one enemy." When Hitler came to power, Hildebrand had to flee to Vienna; when Hitler united Germany and Austria, he gave orders to the Gestapo to bring back Hildebrand as their first priority, and it was only through luck that Hildebrand escaped to the United States.

If you want to make an argument for the dangers of relativism and the virtues of philosophical realism, it really writes itself, doesn't it?

Awkward.

USA/Canada: The Crucifixion of Ernst Zündel

Preliminary Remarks: Legal Update

Fredrick Töben

Firstly, a big thank you to all our supporters who contributed to the Defence Fund Appeal, and a special thank-you to John Bennett who has for the second time now jumped into the position of fund manager, the first time during 1999 when I spent seven months in Hotel Mannheim. All those who have made a donation will initially receive a receipt, then later, after the appeal, I shall personally respond to each donation. We have achieved a modest $4,000, and although that will not be enough to cover costs, I am certain when the significance of this appeal becomes known more widely, that more contributions will be made.

Those of you who wish to consider leaving a legacy that would help us continue the fight, please contact me, and I shall make arrangements so that we can legalise your support in such a way that the enemy cannot take me to court and demand money from me. After all, I am only able to do what I am doing because I have divested myself of all material goods. The proverbial enemy of free speech always aims to neutralize those it fears by attacking the financial operational base, and in my case they cannot get anything.

There is, however, a general donation fatigue because a number of supporters have been in this battle since the 1970s, and some are simply dispirited. Hence a big thank you to those individuals who have managed to send in their monthly, even fortnightly, contributions, something that gives life to our newsletter.

Now the general fatigue has somewhat been swept aside with a most unexpected development. As you will see below, the Ernst Zündel arrest in the USA/Canada has given a new impetus to Revisionism. Ironically, when I visited the Zündel home for a couple of days in February, just six days before Ernst was arrested, I stated to him that there are two types of Revisionists: those who have been inside and those who have it coming to them! What a prophetic joke.

At the 25 February hearing in Sydney, John Bennett (Australian Civil Liberties Union), and I were present, as was the Respondent's legal team led by Senior Counsel, Stephen Rothman. Our legal counsels did not have to appear on account of a technicality that caused the appeal to be adjourned until the next Federal Court sessions, probably in May 2003. So, more savings were made, and our counsel is fully aware that we are battling this on the proverbial shoestring, and a lot of goodwill. Both state and Commonwealth legal aid has been denied me because the matter is considered not to be of any significance.

Now three appeal judges determined before the 25 February hearing that the actual appeal may raise constitutional matters, and advised counsels accordingly. The various states' and territories' Attorneys General therefore need to be notified that this case is before the court so that they may voice their objections, or otherwise, on the matter under consideration – and this could not be done prior to the 25 February hearing. One matter is that the actual Racial Discrimination Act is in contravention of the Foreign Affairs Power, but don't quote me on this. I shall keep you informed as things develop through our website and emails.

Although The Australian and The Age reporters interviewed me, their stories were not printed. Only The Australian Jewish News detailed the matter on 28 February 2003 thus:

Toben Case Adjourned

By Aviva Bard

An appeal by Holocaust denier Dr Fredrick Toben to overturn a Federal Court decision forcing him to remove offensive content from his Adelaide Institute website has been adjourned until May.

In a landmark decision last September, Justice Catherine Branson found that material on his website was "likely to offend, insult, humiliate and intimidate Australian Jews", and ordered Toben to remove the content within seven days. Toben's appeal was adjourned after his lawyers argued that the interpretation of the legislation accepted by the Federal Court until now contravenes the Australian constitution.

Notice of this argument has to be given to attorneys general of all states, including the Commonwealth attorney general to allow them the opportunity to intervene if they wish – the reason for the lengthy adjournment.

Supporting Toben in the courtroom was John Bennett, author of Your Rights, a publication that promotes Holocaust denial, anti-Zionism and anti-immigration. Toben's website remains online.

Of course, I did remove the alleged offending material, and more. I removed the complete site, and the current one is thus brand new. It is my attempt at operating a site with a court gag-order in place, something that I find oppressive. Interestingly, though, the initial Human Rights and Equal Commission (HREOC) ruling demanded that I remove the whole website and that I also apologise in writing, the text of the apology being given to me. How this would have been achieved remained a puzzle for me. Jones was asking me to remove the website and then display the apology on a removed website!

It was also demanded that I receive counseling, at my own expense, to learn what it means to be a racist. I found this quite funny because if anyone asks me whether I am a racist, my reply is that I am not. Yet, after some counseling, perhaps then my answer would be, "Not yet!"

Also, Jeremy Jones, the Zionist who initiated this battle, initially wished to speak on behalf of all Australian Jews. That claim fell flat even before the HREOC, and now it is merely Jeremy Jones v Fredrick Töben, as it ought to be: Man to Man! In this context let me reproduce a paragraph that Stephen Rothman wrote in his written submission:

There is nothing in the activity of Jews in Australia or elsewhere which has invited public criticism or discussion. There is certainly no evidence of such activity. The abstract generalisation of "truth in history" is not the kind of justification embodied in the provisions of s.18D, assuming, for the purposes of this discussion that the analogy with the Bellino is appropriate.

The significance of the Internet again was brought home to me when I met some supporters who are not on the Internet and thus have no email service. After three weeks they had not heard about Zündel's arrest because the local and national print and electronic media has not run the story. Interestingly, the Australian Jewish News did run a story on 28 February 2003.

And before we feature the terrible Ernst Zündel matter, here is an item from David Brockschmidt to put you, briefly, in a reflective mood before the darker and more painful one takes over.

The Holocaust In Space

The world has known that the Holocaust Racketeers, the corpse peddlers and the Shoah Business Merchants are not only 'off their rocker', but since Norman Finkelstein published his book The Holocaust Industry, we know that these people, according to Finkelstein, are also a bunch of criminals who have no respect for the victims — Jews and Gentiles alike — as long as they can make a 'fast buck' out of it. The last Columbia space disaster shows us that Holocaust marketing has now reached space. If this is 'the way to go', to take a drawing of a young Holocaust victim who died at Auschwitz into space in order to get 'the desired results' from the 'international community', then the next Japanese astronaut must take a drawing from a young Japanese child who perished in the nuclear firestorm of Hiroshima or Nagasaki. The next German astronaut must take a drawing from a child who died in the Holocaust of Dresden, Pforzheim, Hamburg, etc. The next Russian astronaut must take a drawing of a Russian child who perished in Leon Trotzky-Bronstein and Lazar Kaganovich's Gulags in Soviet Russia. We all mourn the tragic deaths of all astronauts, but using this mission for 'Shoah Business' is tasteless, and it shows the world that the Holocaust industry is not only 'spaced out' but totally off the planet.

USA/Canada: The Crucifixion of Ernst Zündel

What follows below is what is perceived to be the most important Zgrams that Ingrid Rimland sent through the system. Therein the storyline of Ernst's arrest is revealed, especially the corrupt involvement of the Canadian secret service in persecuting Ernst in Canada. After his arrest on 5 February 2003, Ernst spent a week in a Tennessee prison, then was transferred to a detention camp in New York, and from there flown to Canada. Because the Canadian authorities refused to admit Ernst, he was brought across the border back into the USA. Then, and I am not clear about this, he returned to Canada requesting political asylum, and he now is in a detention camp from which he is making that critical application for political asylum.

SOS ZGram - Where Truth is Destiny: Now more than ever!

March 3, 2003

Good Morning from the Zundelsite:

Before I write anything else, I would still like more readers on my list to sign the petition at

<http://www.PetitionPetition.com/cgi/petition.cgi?id=5230>

We are now at 835 signatures, and I would like to have a round 1,000 before we submit it to the Powers that be. Please sign - and spread the word on your respective lists. Now to some very serious business:

Ernst Zundel is in maximum lockdown in the Niagara Detention Center. I talked to him very briefly yesterday and a little longer this morning. He says the guards hang their heads because they are ashamed at what is happening but will not give him any explanation why he has to be in lock-down 24 hours a day. He says that he is being treated like Rudolf Hess, having his food shoved in without words, being permitted only a plastic spoon/fork combination - called a "spork", by the way - some kind of black humor? He writes his notes to himself and what letters he is allowed to send on the seat of his toilet, the only surface available to him.

I believe this treatment is being meted out to keep him from communicating with anyone, including media. The reason is that last Friday, he told the "war crimes" attorney acting for the government that the very agency, namely CSIS, that is trying to brand him as a "terrorist" is the outfit that had knowledge of the parcel bomb en route to the Zundel-Haus to kill him in 1995 - yet did not see fit to warn him or anybody else!

This WILL be said at the next hearing - if such a hearing is ever to take place. Allegedly, this hearing, scheduled for Friday, is open to media. When I talked to Ernst this morning, nobody had yet notified him of the date. I feel I have reason to fear that Ernst's enemies will move heaven and earth, and may even attempt to harm him, to prevent this hearing from happening.

Here is the pertinent information that has only recently come to light in a book titled Covert Entry / Spies, Lies and Crimes: Inside Canada's Secret Service by Andrew Mitrovica. Andrew Mitrovica is one of Canada's leading investigative journalists. He has won numerous national and international awards for his reporting. He has worked at the fifth estate, CTV national news, W5 and most recently at the Globe and Mail, where he covered security and intelligence issues. Born in Melbourne, Australia, Mitrovica lives in Toronto.

The inside book flap carries this text:

"Canada's espionage agency, CSIS, enjoys operating deep in the shadows. Set up as a civilian force in the 80s after the RCMP spy service was abolished for criminal excesses, the Canadian Security Intelligence Service was to be a squeaky-clean contrast to its disgraced predecessors. But it's hard for Canadians to get a fix on how well CSIS is doing its job or how well it is behaving. This country's spymasters work diligently to prevent journalists, politicians and watchdog agencies from prying into their secret world.

Few journalists have come close to rivalling Andrew Mitrovica at unveiling the stories CSIS does not want told. In COVERT ENTRY, the award-winning investigative reporter uncovers a disturbing pattern of venality, law-breaking and incompetence deep inside the service, and provides a fascinating window on its daily operations.

At its core, COVERT ENTRY traces the eventful career of John Farrell, a veteran undercover operative who worked on some of the service's most sensitive cases and was ordered to break the law by senior CSIS officers in the name of national security. Mitrovica delivers a ground level, day-to-day look at who is actually running the show in national clandestine operations. The picture he paints definitively shatters the myth that CSIS respects the rights and liberties it is charged with protecting."

From the back flap we learn this about John Farrel, the CSIS undercover agent who came out of the closet about his, and other operatives', illegal activities:

"As a dedicated operative in CSIS's covert war against terrorists and spies, John Farrell was once a true believer in the intelligence service's "Ways and Means Act": if you have a way to get things done, the means - legal or not - are justified. He is the first CSIS operative to openly discuss the details of his highly classified work. Whether he is condemned or applauded for breaking his silence, Farrell is offering up his story so that Canadians can gain a clearer understanding of what actually takes place in this country in the name of national security. And what this unofficial tour deep inside the service's cloistered world reveals is an alarming portrait of incompetence - and worse."

This hardcover, put out by Random House Canada, is listed at $35.95 and is available from Amazon. Mitrovica addresses how CSIS dealt with Ernst Zundel, a lifelong opponent of those individuals, groups and organizations who do not want the orthodox version of the Holocaust challenged, much less investigated. In the vernacular referred to as the Holocaust Lobby, Zundel has many times characterized the actions of this powerful and ruthless entity as being an extortion racket based on fictitious stories regarding the genocidal gassings of Jews in World War II in German concentration camps.

As you read Mitrovica, please keep in mind that this investigative journalist describes a highly unpopular, politically incorrect dissident activist who has been systematically demonized by Canadian media for decades - while under a judge's gag order for years that prevented him from defending his motives and honor.

Mitrovica: Ernst Zundel was another prime target of CSIS's allegedly covert campaign against white supremacists. For years, the balding, German-born immigrant ran what amounted to an anti-Semitic propaganda factory from his Victorian home in downtown Toronto. Working out of his ramshackle basement, Zundel churned out pamphlets on his printing press, held meetings and gave lectures, all with a common theme: the Holocaust was a hoax.

Zundelsite comment: Ernst Zundel did not work out of a "ramshackle basement". He worked out of a four-story Victorian home on prime real estate in downtown Toronto - a 14-room building packed to the ceiling with original documents, newspaper clippings, books, pamphlets, affidavits, original World War II memoirs, photographs, slides, audios and videos, court transcripts, government documents etc.

The Zundel-Haus was probably the world's largest private repository of evidence documenting that the true events of World War II were different from the brutal Hollywood-created version depicting Germans as genocidal monsters on a rampage to kill every Jew in sight, primarily by "gassing".

The Zundel-Haus was burned down on May 9th, 1995 - on the 50th anniversary of Germany's surrender to the Allies in 1945. Street talk quickly pointed to a culprit. Ernst turned over to the police the name and address of a punk who had been paid $200 by "someone" to douse the building with gasoline - a criminal act of the first order that was actually caught on a surveillance video. Canadian police chose to do nothing with this tip and never even questioned the street person who did it.

Mitrovica: The man who once described Hitler as his idol distributed his message to fellow travellers around the globe in an infamous booklet entitled DID SIX MILLION REALLY DIE? In it, Zundel claimed the Holocaust was a Jewish-inspired fraud. Canada Post temporarily stopped delivering Zundel's mail in 1981 because he was using the postal service to spread hatred. In 1985, Zundel was sentenced to 15 months in jail after being found guilty of wilfully causing harm to Canada's racial and social harmony.

Zundelsite comment: This paragraph is misleading through omission. A postal commission, investigating the charge that Zündel "spread hatred", cleared him of the charge after a year's worth of investigation, stating in its verdict that - and here I quote from memory - "the Holocaust is an issue between two peoples, the Germans and the Jews" - recommending that the Canadian government should keep its nose out of it. The 15 months sentence was the result not of the judgment of the postal hearing - it was the result of what is known as the FIRST GREAT HOLOCAUST TRIAL of 1985, where, upon appeal, the judge was found biased, leading via many legal detours to the 1988 SECOND GREAT HOLOCAUST TRIAL which gave birth to the best-selling Leuchter Report, still a thorn in the Holocaust/Zionist-Lobbyists side. The charge of these two trials that rocked the foundations of the Holocaust myth, was not that Ernst was "wilfully causing harm to Canada's racial and social harmony" - it was that Zundel was "spreading false news." This charge, brought by a Holocaust survivor but soon taken over by the government, was based on an ancient law out of the Thirteenth Century in England that Canada had on its books, forbidding wandering minstrels to "defame the kings" with ribald songs. That legal prohibition had no relevance in modern Canada.

After a nine-year legal battle, on August 27, 1992, the Supreme Court of Canada overturned this ancient law, striking down the "false news" law as a violation of the guarantee to free speech contained in the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms, thereby adopting Zündel's viewpoint on freedom of speech. The court's decision, as summarized in the headnote to the case, was as follows:

Section 2(b) of the Charter protects the right of a minority to express its view, however unpopular it may be. All communications which convey or attempt to convey meaning are protected by s. 2(b), unless the physical form by which the communication is made (for example, a violent act) excludes protection. The content of the communication is irrelevant. The purpose of the guarantee is to permit free expression to the end of promoting truth, political or social participation, and self-fulfilment. That purpose extends to the protection of minority beliefs which the majority regards as wrong or false. Section 181, which may subject a person to criminal conviction and potential imprisonment because of words he published, has undeniably the

Labor's abstention explained

JANUARY 18, 2013

Labor MP Mike Kelly touts his party's credential on Israel through the years, and explains the decision to abstain on last year's UN vote.

RECENTLY all those who support Israel and its right to live in peace and security behind practical and secure borders have been embroiled in a debate around the difficult decision on the UN General Assembly vote on state observer status for the Palestinian territories.

The process of determining what was the best of the three voting options in the interests of Middle East peace and the secure future for Israel that we all seek, was portrayed by some as an indication of the stronger support of the Coalition for Israel over the Gillard government. This was based on the fact that the Coalition advocated a "no" vote whereas the Government ultimately settled on an "abstention". Determining the right approach on this issue was complicated and particularly so in the context of the recent escalation of violence in relation to the rocket threats from Gaza.

Before considering the pros and cons of the vote it is perhaps timely to revisit the record of the major parties on Israel. Three excellent references in this respect which I would strongly recommend to all who wish to be properly informed on the Australia/Israel relationship are Australia and Appeasement by Christopher Waters, Australia and Israel by Chanan Reich and Nazi Dreamtime: Australian Enthusiasts for Hitler's Germany by David Bird. In the first book the terrible record of the conservative government of Australia through the years leading up to the Second World War is laid out in damning detail. The conservative figureheads of Robert Menzies (Attorney General and later Prime Minister), Joseph Lyons (Prime Minister), Richard Casey (Foreign Minister) and Stanley Bruce (High Commissioner to the UK) all vigorously exerted influence on the British government in favour of a policy of appeasement of Nazi Germany, even after it was abandoned by the British. In late 1934 and early 1935 Menzies, then Attorney-General, unsuccessfully prosecuted the Lyons Government's case for the attempted exclusion from Australia of Egon Kisch, a Czech Jewish campaigner against the Nazis. While some saw this as an early example of his anti-Communism, others suspected and charged Menzies with holding Nazi sympathies. Following the outbreak of World War II Menzies attempted to distance himself from his actions as Attorney-General in this affair by claiming Interior Minister Thomas Paterson was responsible since he made the initial order to exclude Kisch.

Menzies, the founder of the Liberal Party, had a great deal of sympathy for Nazi "achievements", even after having personally visited Germany in 1938. Menzies spent several weeks in Nazi Germany and was extremely impressed with the abolition of trades unions, suppression of the right of collective bargaining and the outlawing of the right to strike. In October 1938, after five years of increasing violence against the Jews and others, he made a speech in Sydney where he contrasted the quality of the leadership of Lyons as PM unfavourably with Hitler. For this the PM's wife Dame Enid Lyons never forgave him.

Menzies was to say, "...it must be said that this modern abandonment by the Germans of individual liberty and of the easy and pleasant things of life has something rather magnificent about it. The Germans may be pulling down the churches, but they have erected the State, with Hitler at its head, into a sort of religion which produces spiritual exaltation that one cannot but admire and some small portion of which would do no harm among our somewhat irresponsible populations." This despite the anti-Semitic policies of the Nazis being well known by this stage, including the savage Nuremberg Laws of 1935. Menzies' view was that Hitler was a patriot and he was not concerned for the fate of the Jews of Germany or what awaited the peoples of Eastern Europe under the Nazi domination he was prepared to concede.

The Lyons government refused, despite much lobbying, to raise the issue of the treatment of the Jews with the German Government. This remained the case even after Kristallnacht in 1938 when the ALP, particularly the NSW Branch, condemned the Lyons government for failing to protest the atrocities.

Christopher Waters came to the conclusion that, "Lyons, Menzies, Casey and Bruce badly misjudged Hitler's and Mussolini's foreign policies, and actively pursued the imperial appeasement policy long after they should have recognised its failure." He added that the successful implementation of the Conservative Australian Government's policy "...would have resulted in a new world order under which a large swathe of the globe would have been governed by Hitler's racial ideology". Even after Menzies lost the elections in 1941, as Leader of the Opposition in 1942 he lobbied for the release of a notoriously anti-Semitic old law school acquaintance, pro-Nazi sympathiser, Rud Mills who had been taken into security detention.

During the crucial period in the lead up to the outbreak of World War II the Conservative Government also vigorously opposed allowing Jewish refugees into the British Palestine Mandate territory. Australia's High Commissioner to the UK, Bruce, advised the British Government that, "Australia's views were very definitely that we must not arouse the hostility of the Arabs in trying to pacify the Jews". Compounding this opposition was their position at the Evian Conference in July 1938 on the plight of Jewish refugees desperately attempting to get out of Germany and Austria. The Australian government reluctantly agreed to take very few of these with TW White on behalf of the Government infamously stating: "as we have no real racial problem, we are not desirous of importing one".

In May 1939 the British Government issued its infamous White Paper, spelling the death sentence to so many Jews, by placing extreme limits on their entry into the Mandate territory. The Zionist Federation of Australia and New Zealand and several intellectuals and church men approached Menzies to protest this and transmit their grievances to Britain. He refused to do so.

In February of 1939 Lyons warned the British against the partition of the Mandate territory so as not to estrange the Muslim world and urged safeguards be put in place "to prevent Jewish predominance". Reich states that, "The policies of Lyons and Menzies towards the Jewish-Arab conflict over Palestine were the product of a unique Australian interpretation of the interests of the British Empire in the Middle East, reinforced by anti-Jewish prejudice".

After the war when the great debates began on the creation of Israel, a Labor Government was now in office in Australia under Ben Chifley. HV "Doc" Evatt represented Australia at the UN and headed up an ad hoc committee in 1947 that achieved acceptance of a partition plan for the Mandate territory creating separate Arab and Jewish states. He was a key driving force in attaining that outcome and was praised by the governing authorities of the Yishuv, with a forest planted in his honour. Chaim Weizmann was to say of Evatt that he played "a momentous role in all the processes which culminated in the birth of Israel". In 1965 the Australian Jewish News said of him that he was "the man who piloted the establishment of Israel through the UN in 1948".

Meanwhile the Liberal Country Party Coalition continued their anti-Zionist stance, severely criticizing the Labor Government's support for partition, claiming the UN decision resulted from pressure from American Jews and was therefore illegitimate. They also criticized fundraising activities by the Jewish Agency among Australian Jews.

The next great debate in the process concerned recognition of Israel after the Arab States and Palestinian leadership rejected the partition plan and Israel declared its independence. Evatt and Chifley were locked in a bitter fight with the UK over this issue but, responding to a leaflet supported by trade union leaders, academics and clergymen published by Brian Fitzpatrick in July 1948 urging recognition, they pushed on. Chifley announced full recognition on January 29, 1949 stating he regarded the new nation of Israel as "a force of special value in the world community". The Federal Opposition vehemently criticized the Government's de jure recognition of Israel.

The Labor Government also supported Israel's admission to the UN, vigorously aided by Evatt who was now President of the UN General Assembly. Again this was opposed by the UK and the Federal Opposition. Despite this opposition Israel was admitted as a full member on May 11, 1949 and Australia immediately moved to exchange diplomatic missions. To sum up this critical phase in the birth and establishment of Israel, Reich states "From April 1947 onwards, the Labor Government conducted, by and large, a very pro-Zionist policy in the face of severe criticism by Britain and the Federal Opposition." He cites a quote from Banativ, the Zionist youth magazine, urging a Labor vote in the 1949 elections because Labor had "consistently supported the cause of Israel, Jewry, and the UN", warning that a "a Liberal Government would result in the growing tide of anti-Semitic and anti-Zionist feeling being heard more loudly in Parliament, but this time from the Government benches".

This difference in attitude between the Conservative and Labor sides of politics had a number of causes. Labor was very impressed with the support the Yishuv provided to our troops, including members of my own family, in both World Wars and Jewish solidarity with the Allies in the fight against the fascists. This was in marked contrast to figures like the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem who was an active Nazi collaborator. Secondly they identified strongly with the Labor leaders of Israel who had done the most to build the Yishuv, Israel and its institutions as well as provide its best military leadership.

The Unions in Australia were deeply impressed with the achievements of the peak union body in Israel, the Histadrut, and the communal kibbutz movement. In contrast the Conservative politicians in Australia were slavish followers of British policy, were suspicious of the left leaning nature of the Israeli leadership and Israel's institutions and clearly had a degree of prejudice against the Jews born of the inherited or aped attitudes of high British society of the time.

This dichotomy only really began to change from the 1956 Suez Crisis when the UK and France were allied with Israel through which Israel sought to clear the maritime blockade by Egypt against her. The growing intensification of the Cold War also transformed conservative attitudes, as Israel was clearly not in the Soviet camp. Nevertheless strong anti-Israel sentiment continued to exist in Conservative ranks over the years among key figures such as Malcolm Fraser, Tim Fischer and in the current Parliament Susan Ley. On the Labor side every leader has been a supporter of Israel. A prime example of that tradition and to great effect was Bob Hawke, whose strong advocacy for the right of Russian Jews to emigrate to Israel saw thousands make Aliyah. He was another Labor figure for whom Israel has dedicated a forest. In recent years both Kevin Rudd and Julia Gillard have been very strong supporters. Prime Minister Julia Gillard cannot be questioned on her long time support for Israel and the Jewish community in Australia. She has proclaimed her strong commitment proudly, vigorously and openly at every opportunity, including during the trying confrontations with Hamas in Gaza.

And so why did the Government determine to abstain in the recent vote in the UN General Assembly on the Status of the Palestinian territories? There are only three options available in such votes: Yes, no or abstain. Given the complicated nature of this issue such options are something of a blunt instrument. What made the situation even more difficult was the close proximity of the most recent Gaza confrontation. It is the position of both Coalition and Labor and of both the Palestinian Authority and Israel that there ought be a two-state solution to the conflict. A number of voices in the Israeli polity advocated a "yes" vote, including former Likud Prime Minister Ehud Olmert. Olmert's view, conveyed with some force, is that if Israel must have a two-state solution to succeed as the Jewish homeland then it should support all processes that move the Palestinian territories toward acceptance of that reality. In his view the status vote was part of that process.

My own view was that there were valid arguments in support of all three voting options. Given the recent escalation in aggression by Hamas I settled on the firm conclusion that a "yes" vote was not merited as it could have the effect of being seen as a reward for their bad behaviour, which could strengthen Hamas in the febrile politics of the area. It has also been the Government's strong and clearly stated view, which I support, that the two state solution can only be attained by both parties returning to direct negotiations without preconditions. In the end the decision to "abstain" was taken to convey the nuance required by the situation that, while the Australian Government acknowledges the legitimate aspirations of the Palestinians for statehood, our position on how that is to be achieved remains unchanged.

Within the Labor caucus there were different views on this issue. This discussion was not driven by domestic political considerations but on what was the best option for achieving the two state solution. The Prime Minister ultimately presented to the Caucus her final view that we should "abstain" and this position was unanimously supported by the Caucus without further debate. No argument was put to the Caucus to vote "yes" and such a proposal would have been overwhelmingly defeated.

It is utterly false and repulsive to suggest that this vote in any way indicates a dilution of Labor's committed support for Israel, based as it is on a proud and unmatched tradition, or that the Coalition is in any way a stronger supporter. Under this Government, and particularly within my own portfolio of Defence, the relationship with Israel has been taken to unprecedented levels and we are seeking to elevate it further.

This has been to the great benefit of our effective operational capacity in Afghanistan and the enhancement of our Force Protection. There is no stronger friend of Israel than this Government. We face the same enemy and we have the same fervent hopes for peace. From time to time friends will differ but a healthy level of disputation is only a reflection of the nature of Israel itself, and what makes it so worthwhile defending.

Lipstadt's imagery links Holocaust questioners to pornography - hard-core/soft-core, with which to attack and thus to discredit/character assassinate rather than honestly to enquire into the disputed matters, etc. Is it time to focus on Professor Lipstadt's personal failings and ask whether she is autobiographical when she uses these defamatory imputations?

Deborah Lipstadt: The rise of 'soft-core' Holocaust denial

By Deborah Lipstadt, Author and Historian, January 23, 2015

Dr Deborah Lipstadt

In the last three decades of the 20th century, we witnessed a surge in Holocaust denial. Not only did it grow exponentially, but it also changed its outer garb, moving from a neo-Nazi like personae to a more (pseudo) academic and reasoned one.

This appearance of rational thinking and discourse allowed deniers entry into areas that would have been otherwise barred to them, for example university newspapers. This kind of denial was mostly of the "hard core" variety, i.e. it focused on attempting to deny that the Holocaust happened.

In pseudo-academic settings, such as the Institute for Historical Review or the scholarly-looking The Journal of Historical Review, deniers argued that there was no plan to kill the Jews, that gas chambers and death camps were a figment of Jews' imagination, and that, while some Jews may have died (viz. died, not murdered), the number six million was a vast exaggeration.

Today, with the exception of certain areas of the Muslim world, most of this form of Holocaust denial has been accepted as false and invented. (This was a result in great measure of the London lawsuit brought against me by Holocaust denier David Irving. We exposed his claims as lies and distortions thereby stripping and, by extension, the denial movement of historical credibility.)

There is however a new form of Holocaust denial, which I choose to describe as "soft core" denial. Soft core denial does not deny the facts. Rather, it draws false comparisons, for example by claiming there is a genocide of the Palestinians or accusing Israel of "Nazi-like" tactics. The murder of the Jews is used against them. This is sometimes called Holocaust switching or inversion: the victims are rendered into the victimisers.

This is apparent not just in the charge of a genocide against the Palestinians, but also in the phantasmagorical claims of the '9/11 truthers' that the Jews/Mossad were behind the attacks.

In addition to being a victim/victimiser switch, this Kafkaesque accusation has its roots in the most traditional anti-Semitic charge, the deicide myth. Just as they did at the time of the Second Temple in Jerusalem when "the Jews" crucified the innocent and pure Jesus for their own purposes, once again in 2001 Jews "crucified" 3,000 innocent Americans to serve their nefarious purposes.

These newer types of denial or inversion are, in certain respects far more dangerous than what we had to fight in court. They are harder to spot and identify and will pose a challenge in the future.

New Law Bans Holocaust Denial in Greece

Hate speech legislation a response to rise of neo-Nazi Golden Dawn party

In response to the chilling rise of the neo-Nazi Golden Dawn party in Greece —the far-right group currently holds 19 of 300 seats in Parliament—lawmakers are cracking down on hate speech, a move the Jews of Greece say is long overdue. Greece's Parliament has approved a new law that bans Holocaust denial or trivialization, as well as similar comments about other recognized genocides, JTA reports. The measure passed late Tuesday with 55 of the 99 lawmakers present in the 300-member Parliament voting in favor.

The law increases jail time for instigating racist violence from two years to three years and imposes fines on individuals and groups. Groups found inciting racism can be barred from receiving state funds.

While Western Europe has claimed much of our attention this summer for its overt displays of anti-Semitism (see: Paris; Berlin; London), Greece's small but historic Jewish community is witnessing the legitimization of the Golden Dawn party, whose leaders routinely use Nazi imagery and deny the Holocaust. (One member of the group, a Greek doctor, was arrested in March for posting a 'Jews Not Welcome' sign outside his practice.)

While the neo-Nazi group's political ascent in modern-day Greece is a frightening prospect, outlawing hate speech is itself a controversial legal practice. Still, according to JTA, the local Jewish community has been pressuring lawmakers to take legislation action on their behalf for a while now. The ban on Holocaust denial, it appears, is for them a step in the right direction.

Greece bans Holocaust denial, cracks down on hate speech

September 10, 2014 4:32am

ATHENS, Greece (JTA) — Lawmakers in Greece passed a law that bans Holocaust denial and imposes stricter penalties for hate speech.

The government had been trying to enact the bill for more than a year in an effort to confront the rise of the neo-Nazi Golden Dawn party and a surge in anti-immigrant violence.

Passed late Tuesday with 55 of the 99 lawmakers present in the 300-member Parliament voting in favor, the measure criminalizes the denial or trivialization of the Holocaust or other recognized genocides.

It also increases jail time for instigating racist violence from two years to three years and imposes fines on individuals and groups. Groups found inciting racism can be barred from receiving state funds.

The Greek Jewish community and international Jewish groups have long pressed the Greek government to take a tougher legislative stance on hate speech.

Many of Golden Dawn's leaders are awaiting trial on charges of running a criminal organization. The party, which has 18 seats in Parliament, frequently uses Nazi imagery. Its leaders have denied the existence of Nazi death camps and gas chambers.

THE BIG LIE

*Do you want to see the end of the Big Lie about Whites?
Then get on board the train! Or do you not really want to after all?*

On last week's program Carolyn talked about the Jewish-led ECTR and its "European Framework National Statute for the Promotion of Tolerance."

This week Carolyn is telling you how to stop it ... and the only way to stop it. It is for every person who identifies as Pro-White and White Nationalist to get on board the "Holocaust Denial" train. What this means and how it is defined, and why it is guaranteed to work, is fully explained in this program. If you are disappointed, you'll get a full refund on the money it cost you.

Seriously, this is a no-brainer, yet hundreds of the targeted people, if not most of them, will refuse to do it. Maybe we can change their minds.

See you then,
Carolyn

Russian President Putin and his foreign minister Sergei Lavrov are making it difficult for their White Nationalist followers and supporters every time they use the word

"anti-Semite" or "persecution of Jews" directed against the Ukrainians--and they're using those words a lot lately.

Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov at the Munich Security Conference on Feb. 7th makes his audience laugh at his outlandish rewriting of history.

Putin has made it increasingly a defining part of his national and international policy to defend and embrace Jewish interests and culture in Europe--a position that is 180 degrees away from what White Nationalists say they believe. But most WN's appear to be non-plussed by it and take the stance that the Russians are not really serious about what they say. Not serious?

To The Editor,

Let me see if I understand Alex Rosner's incredible tale of survival during the Holocaust as recounted by Times reporter Aileen Jacobson: Young Alex (he was only 9 at the time) finds himself in Auschwitz along with his father. Because of his youth and possessing no discernible skills, he is slated for execution in the gas chambers. Fortunately, a female guard gives him a small accordion which he quickly learns to play with such skill that he can join his father, a concert level violinist , in performing duets for the SS prison guards. So entertained are these mass murderers by the Rosner duet, that when the elder Rosner threatens to stop playing if any harm comes to his son, they quickly agree. *Also recognizing that this plan and others like it are based on "Holocaust" and without "Holocaust" it would have no foundation.

Surprise! Huge "Big Three" monument unveiled in Yalta, Crimea

Published by Carolyn on Thu, 2015-02-05 19:24

Outside the town of Yalta, Crimea today, the Speaker of Russia's lower parliament calls for today's global powers to remember the lessons of Yalta. Really I have to ask: What could those be? Does anyone have any idea?

The rehabilitation of Soviet dictator Josef Stalin continues as the Russians don't waste any time in putting up a huge monument to reinforce their claim to a disputed land mass.

Today, Russians unveiled a 10-ton monument of Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin to mark the 70th Anniversary of their so-called "Big Three" summit from Feb. 4-11, 1945 in the town of Yalta on the Crimean Peninsula.

The 300,000 native Crimean Tatars, who are Muslim and boycotted last year's referendum, have been against the installation of the sculpture because they were persecuted under Josef Stalin's rule--accused of collaborating with National Socialist Germany and deported to Central Asia. Many died of disease and starvation.

"The Final Solution" could be put on hold because of a child's alleged skill with a musical instrument is nothing less than remarkable...almost as remarkable as the ultimatum tendered by the father to, what up to now we have been led to believe were, the most vicious killers in recorded history. But the story doesn't end here, young Alex and his father survive the death march from Auschwitz to Dachau and are eventually reunited with Alex's mother who survived the war as a trusted non musical employee of the now famous Oscar Schindler. At the family reunion the mother produces both Alex's accordion and her husband's violin which had been confiscated some time before during their liberation from Dachau .According to the mother, it was Mr. Schindler who was responsible for the recovery of these life saving instruments.
